

The Armidale Regency Motel with Licensed Restaurant has something unique to offer

What a lot of people don't know is the Motel is architecturally designed, built from the very best woods, brick & concrete in the late 1980's. It was inspired by an alpine ski lodge. Perfect place to be in Armidale's winter with a fire place and high vaulted ceilings and beautiful rich red cedar wall panels and finishing's. The Restaurant is one of a kind in the New England Region.

The Armidale Regency Motel has a Restaurant within the structure, it is also known as "Lizabeth's Restaurant".

The Restaurant is "smart casual".

- So what does this really mean?

This simply means the restaurant provides Ala-Carte service in an easy going environment with the added class and professional table service. It's an interesting and unique mix that many modern restaurants offer today. The new owners of the Armidale Regency have over 27 years' experience they understand the romance of dining out, which has been lost to frim fram TV shows, fast food & pubs.

At the regency, the owners want to ensure people have a fun night out. They want their customers to feel comfortable in a smart attire, but not over the top, they want to offer a restaurant with guts, unlike many restaurants that have 4 white walls with wooden tables.

The Armidale Regency is for everyday diners to regularly enjoy. Our restaurant is not for the once a year "good meal" we let the others worry about expensive, pretentious perfect service. If you want to go out for dinner and not worry about dressing up or organising for months then you have found the place to take a best friend, partner or small group (max 12).

Problems with the Restaurant

- Too much to look at
- Dripping Italian candles on the tables
- Bold music. Live piano playing – bring your hearing aids and ear horns.
- Romantic cocktail bar that is known to seduce people
- Not fast food. Good food is worth waiting for
- Quality not quantity, bookings required to save disappointment
- Can't invite boring friends

The Regency is a licensed Restaurant with a great range of wines and beers.
